MASTER IN INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

MIR-LLM

I. Objective

The events occurred over the past few years have proved that the world is in permanent change and our economy needs excellent trained professional in order to face the challenges which still lay ahead of us.

In this context, IE has created the Dual Master in Law (LLM) + Master in International Relations, an innovative program which combines IE's top-ranked LLM program with the sophisticated Master in International Relations.

The Master in International relations provides students with solid knowledge in international affairs and covers, among others, fields like International Politics, Economics, Finance, Social Sciences or Humanities. On the other hand, while coursing the Master in Law, LLM students will grow to analyze, develop and implement effective solutions for complex corporate and regulatory problems involving multiple legal systems. The development of this ability promotes expertise and leadership in one's chosen field.
